The experts...

John Kaiser

was born and raised in Vancouver, Canada. He published the first issue of the Kaiser Bottom-Fishing Report in October 1994. He has written extensively about speculative Canadian issues, is frequently quoted by the media, and is a regular speaker at investment conferences. He specializes in high risk speculative Canadian securities with an emphasis on the resource sector. He is one of the few independent analysts with an in-depth knowledge of diamond exploration.

- Will help you to understand what is going on with the copper, zinc & nickel markets
 - Will explain how to invest in base metals stocks after the recent market correction
 - Will interview the management of 8 base metals companies who will be presenting their projects and their investment potential the “geology side” of Hard Rock Analyst, has been active in prospecting, resource calculation, and feasibility studies for resource companies for 29 years. He attended the Haileybury School of Mines, authored numerous qualifying reports for resource companies, and managed and designed field programs for over 15 years. His experience is so vast that scores of companies try and lure him to look at their projects. Why? Because they know if their project has Dave’s seal of approval, a lot of serious market players and other analysts will take notice. David was one of the first (along with Eric Coffin) to call the current cycle as the secular trend others have only recently recognized. They made that call back in 2001.

David Coffin

started the Inside ALPHA market neutral strategy in 1999. He has helped customers achieve a double-digit performance in up, down and sideways markets ever since. He publishes the weekly column “The Insiders’ Corner” in l’Agefi, the Swiss financial daily newspaper. Marc holds a Masters degree in finance, and has worked with American Express, Prudential Securities & Credit Suisse

Disclaimer

Experienced investors know that with micro caps and “development stage companies”, the risk of manipulation is higher than it normally would be with blue chips. It happens on occasion that some people will create a completely made-up story to attract investor attention for the purpose of driving their share price higher. In an effort to protect our investors, we have delegated Marc Mayor, head of the company Inside Alpha, to perform a due diligence check on each company that has been selected to present at our conferences. No system is infallible but Academy & Finance and Carrière Consulting Corp. hope that this kind of action will separate the quality from the questionable. This being said, all of our conferences are interactive and we encourage our participants to ask the most direct questions. This should enable our conferences to continue to provide the investor with what he/she is looking for: a basket of well managed companies with the potential to outperform the rest of the market as the chart above demonstrates. This superior performance is totally justified by the fact that the investors are taking a higher risk by investing in these stocks.
